

This paper will always fight for progress and reform. It will not knowingly tolerate injustice or corruption, and will always fight demagogues of all parties. It will oppose privileged classes and public plunderers. It will never lack sympathy with the poor, it will always remain devoted to the public welfare and will never be satisfied with merely printing news. It will always be drastically independent and will never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN TICKET

For President
THEODORE ROOSEVELT
of New York
For Vice-President
HIRAM JOHNSON
of California

SIGN UP FOR ROOSEVELT

In another column of this paper is printed the blank club roll for those who believe in Theodore Roosevelt. The time to organize the movement to purify politics is at hand. The third ticket, headed by Theodore Roosevelt, asks the people for their support. You, who are with the Common People in the fight, cut out the blank, sign it and send it to the Standard office. More of you who have a few moments to spare can paste a piece of white paper to the club roll blank and secure additional names.

Don't delay this matter. Act at once. It is important that an organization be perfected before the Roosevelt county and state conventions are held.

The names, as received by the young lady at the Standard office, will be numbered and the first 500 from Weber county will be placed on the permanent club roll as the charter members of the Roosevelt club of Weber county.

Now is the time to act. Remember the old adage, "A stitch in time saves nine."

WILLARD WATER CASE SETTLED.

The settling of the George B. Barker claim against the city by the payment of $3,850 by the present administration ends a long drawn-out contention which commenced during the first Democratic city administration following Glasmann's second term in office, was continued through Brewer's two years, and finally ended with the city confessing defeat.

The dispute started with the Brewer administration refusing to honor a warrant for $5,000 drawn in payment of the water rights on Willard Creek purchased from Frank Moore and others. While the conflict was on, M. S. Browning and others took possession of the waters of the creek and built a power plant at the mouth of Willard canyon, setting up a claim to the water by right of appropriation.

The conflict was taken into the courts by Barker, to whom had been assigned the rights of Moore and others. Yesterday the city administration yielded. George B. Barker has the $3,850. M. S. Browning and others have the water and the city has had the experience.

STANDPAT PAPERS REJOICE.

The standpat papers are pleased with the nomination of Woodrow Wilson by the Democratic convention at Baltimore. Henry Watterson calls Wilson "the devil." What the standpat papers will be calling the New Jersey governor at the end of the campaign may be forecast by this introductory by the Salt Lake Tribune:

The long deadlock in the Baltimore convention was finally broken yesterday by the nomination of Governor Wilson to be President. This will be accepted generally as a progressive victory over what Bryan calls the reactionaries; and yet it is not easy to see why Mr. Wilson should be called a progressive. It is true that he has built up a machine for himself in New Jersey which smashed the old Democratic machine there and retired the old Democratic leaders; but so far as Wilson himself is concerned, there is no particular evidence of progression in anything that he has done or said, that is at all convincing. He has spent the most of his life as instructor and college master, teaching the very things that are now denounced as stand-pat and reactionary. It was only when he cut loose from his college career, and took back, apparently for political purposes only, the teachings of a lifetime, that he could by any construction of language be held to be a progressive; and the sincerity of the change is, as New York pointed out, open to question; so that Mr. Wilson is really an untried experiment, a man who has never been put to the proof. As a politician he is in his views in direct opposition to his long promulgated views as a schoolman.

This will make toward weakness for him as a Presidential candidate. His denunciation also of foreign immigration, especially that from Italy, Hungary, Bohemia, and Poland, where he assailed such immigrants as inferior even to the Chinese, will be used against him at the polls. There are these elements of weakness, therefore, in his candidacy, and doubtless others will be discovered as the campaign proceeds.

We consider therefore, that the nomination of Mr. Wilson is as favorable a one for President Taft as the Democrats could have made.

Woodrow Wilson would have been a "Know-Nothing" had he been old enough to have joined in that movement. He dislikes the foreigner not of his own blood, which is evidence of his narrowness. The man who is broad knows there is good in all people; that the average man of any European country makes a good American citizen as soon as he comes to understand the spirit of our institutions. There was a time when the Germans and Irish were ostracized as Woodrow Wilson would have us ostracize the Italians, but that was when we were too provincial to accept the true worth of those people.

No one would advocate the influx of countless millions of Hungarians, Poles and Italians, and yet no one, not extremely narrow, would condemn those people as unworthy of American citizenship.

ROOSEVELT WILL WIN.

The nomination of Governor Wilson by the Democrats is not the wisest choice possible for the Democrats. All his life Mr. Wilson has been an aristocrat. He has written books in which he espoused the cause of the aristocrats and wealthy. In several of the books he attacks the initiative, referendum and the recall as something proposed by lunatics and asses.

When by accident he was elected governor of New Jersey, the presidential bee began buzzing and he made a complete flop in one day and then declared the initiative, the referendum and the recall to be the grandest doctrines ever proposed by man. The flop came so quickly, so suddenly, that the money power in the east refused to believe in his conversion and said he was playing to the galleries.

That the money power dominated the Democratic convention is proved from the lips of Bryan himself. The Democratic convention, trust-controlled, nominated who? The man the corporations of New Jersey and New York groomed for president by first electing governor to give him standing.

From the day he was elected Governor, the big banks and corporations in the east pointed to Wilson as the Democratic nominee for president.

The Standard is a Progressive but Wilson's progressiveness is too sudden to be convincing.

But even if Wilson is sincere in his eleventh-hour conversion, there is still the same old Democratic party that ties him down like a weight around a drowning man's neck. There is but one great progressive candidate for president and that is the tried and true Roosevelt.

The trusts and monopolies are all fighting him. They give him no quarter; he asks for none. It is a straight fight of the trusts and monopolies on one side and the common people, with Roosevelt as their leader, on the other side. The issue is made, let the fight go on. The people shall win.

BURKE WAS WITHDRAWN

North Dakota Prevents Second Deadlock in Convention.

Baltimore, July 3.—In the dying hours of the Democratic national convention early this morning it seemed that there would be another deadlock over the nomination of a vice president. John E. Burke of North Dakota, for whom Mr. Bryan had expressed a preference for the second place on the ticket, had polled enough votes on the first two ballots to block the nomination of Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, the leader.

The third ballot had just been ordered when the chairman of the North Dakota delegation obtained recognition from the chair and said: "North Dakota offered her three times governor to the party, believing him to be the strongest running mate for Governor Wilson; that could be nominated. We made the best fight we could for him and realize we are beaten. We therefore withdraw his name, assuring this convention that wherever there is a fight for Democratic votes next fall, Governor John E. Burke will be found in the thick of it."

Moves to Nominate Marshall. The speaker thereupon moved to make the nomination of Governor Marshall unanimous. Immediately a wild scramble for the doors followed, few waiting to hear the motion put. Several seconds later, Chairman James Gavel fell, at 1:55 a. m., on the final adjournment of one of the most noteworthy conventions in the history of the Democratic party.

William Jennings Bryan remained a central figure to the last. A short time before adjournment he spoke his "valedictory," as he called it, transferring the party's standard to the shoulders of Governor Wilson. The respectful attention which the speech received and the applause at its conclusion were tributes to his leadership.

A large number of delegates left the city after the nomination of Governor Wilson yesterday afternoon without waiting for the final session. Those who remained showed the relief they felt that the fight was over and a spirit of hilarity prevailed among them.

The Missouri delegation, loyal to the last to "old Champ Clark," joined in the revelry as best they could, and joined in the cheers for Governor Wilson with those of their convention neighbors, the joyful twenty-four from New Jersey.

MARSHALL IS NAMED

He Is Made Wilson's Running Mate in This Campaign.

Baltimore, July 3.—For president, Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey for vice president, Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana. This was the ticket completed by the Democratic national convention at 1:55 a. m. today.

The nomination of Governor Marshall for vice president came as something of a surprise, for when the night's balloting for vice president began, it seemed that the Bryan-Wilson contingent in the convention had definitely settled upon Governor Joseph E. Burke of North Dakota.

Wary Delegates Relieved. There was not much of a fight, however, and when two ballots disclosed Marshall easily in the lead, Governor Burke's name was withdrawn and Marshall was proclaimed the nominee by acclamation. A minute later the convention had adjourned sine die.

The delegates, worn, weary, made their way out of the big convention hall singing and happy to start for home.

Governor Wilson was nominated at the afternoon session on the forty-sixth ballot, and his nomination, like that of Governor Marshall, was quickly made unanimous. The best of feeling pervaded both sessions and both delegations seemed to be in a good frame of mind.

Bryan Foregoes Resolution. Mr. Bryan had announced his intention of introducing a resolution in effect discharging the national committee from conducting the coming campaign and allowing Governor Wilson to appoint his own campaign manager. He was dissuaded from this course and, instead of making a move that might have stirred up strife, he made a little speech which he termed his "valedictory," and in happy vein turned over the mantle of his former leadership as a presidential candidate to Governor Wilson.

He pledged his faithful support to the presidential nominee and ended by urging that either Governor Burke or Senator George Chamberlain of Oregon be nominated for vice president.

The Nebraskan was understood particularly to favor Burke as a type of the modern progressive.

When, after the first ballot, someone moved to make the nomination of Marshall unanimous, Mr. Bryan started for the stage to make a statement. The motion was withdrawn before he could speak. When the motion was renewed after the second ballot, Mr. Bryan did not protest.

The platform hewn out in committee several days ago, and warmly praised by Mr. Bryan, was adopted with a whoop.

Many of the delegates went directly from the convention hall to special trains and by tomorrow practically all will have left town.

UNITED STATES WINS IN OLYMPIC PISTOL SHOOTING

Stockholm, July 3.—In the pistol shooting competition for teams yesterday, firing at a distance of fifty metres, the United States won. The United States team was awarded the gold medal, its aggregate score being 1,916. Sweden was second with 1,849 and Great Britain third with 1,804.

This is another victory for America in the Olympic games.

The training of the United States team in the Olympic games was interfered with somewhat yesterday by a drizzling rain which softened the ground. The Americans had their first opportunity of practicing on the Stadium tracks, and in the morning nearly all the track men turned out in the presence of a large number of spectators. In the afternoon the runners, weight throwers and hammer throwers exercised on other athletic grounds.

The crown prince of Sweden and Colonel Black, president of the Swedish Olympic committee received James E. Sullivan, commissioner at the games and complimented him on the appearance of the American team.

The individual competition in clay bird shooting was begun yesterday. This consists of three stages, the first stage of which was concluded. The conditions called for twenty targets per man in two rounds. J. R. Graham, Chicago A. A. A. E. Gleason, Boston A. A. and Goel-den and Sledtitz of Germany each had 19 breaks. Thirty-six others are eligible for the second round today, having scored 15 "breaks" on over.

The second round is at thirty targets per man.

The individual shoot with any rifle at 300 meters, 120 shots (forty standing, forty kneeling and forty prone) was won by Coles of France with a score of 984. Madsen, Denmark, was second, with 933; Johansen, Sweden, third with 920. Competition in the Olympic games, was introduced yesterday to Crown Prince Gustav Adolph to whom he handed his warrant from President Taft.
